

Professional Development for Teachers

Franklin and the Free Press

A Workshop for Teachers of Grades 5-12

Date: May 1, 2010

Time: 9:30 am to 1:00 pm

Cost: $30

Benjamin Franklin is our best known early American printer, but there were many others. The printers of the 18th century had an enormous influence on the politics of our early nation. Educators will learn about Franklin, other early American printers, and see a printing demonstration. The workshop will include a hands-on session in the park's classroom, a CD of lesson plans, as well as a tour of the printing office at Franklin Court.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S PRINTING PRESS, 1785.

Professional Development
Credit

Teachers from Pennsylvania and New Jersey will earn three and a half professional development (Act 48) credit hours for this workshop.

Registration

Registration is limited to 30 teachers. You must register before April 17, 2010.

To register contact Education Program Manager Jeffrey Collins at:

(215) 597-1039

or

Jeffrey_Collins@nps.gov